

Modern Day Slavery Statement

Air Business Ltd, a wholly-owned subsidiary of An Post, acknowledges the provisions of the Modern Day Slavery Act 2015 and is completely committed to transparency within our organisation and with suppliers of services to our organisation.

Air Business upholds fair employment practices consistent with our commitment to human rights within our work environment. These are embedded in our Key Values; Integrity, Accountability and Accessibility as well as our terms of general conduct (copy available on request).

As part of our supplier due diligence controls we require our suppliers to comply with ethical trading standards and sign a code of conduct which will incorporate our commitments to a sustainable trading environment.

We will endeavour to conduct a risk assessment of our existing supply chain to evaluate their compliance with and awareness of The Modern Day Slavery Act 2015 and to acknowledge our code of conduct for suppliers.

We will not knowingly procure services or engage with any business that is involved in human trafficking or slavery.

We will use this as a basis to move forward and develop our sustainability policy and procedures.

Adam Sherman
Managing Director
August 2017

From A to Beyond